Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicants' submission filed on 09 February 2007 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 3, 6, 9-21 and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bartley et al (7,045,488).

Bartley et al ["Bartley"] disclose cyclic oligomers derived from the copolymerization of isobutylene and isoprene which may be hydrogenated to form 1-(2,2,4-trimethylpentyl)-2-isopropyl-3,3,5,5-tetramethylcyclohexane and related compounds which are useful as lubricants such as traction fluids. See column 1, line 53 to column 2, line 40. The examiner is of the position that formula (II) in column 2 appears to meet the limitations of the addition product of the claims when it comprises a dimer containing 2 total units of (a) and (b) monomers. The compound of formula (II) contains a cyclic hydrocarbon structure which corresponds to monomer (a) when it is a hydrogenated ring-alkylated styrene, and contains a branched non-cyclic olefin monomer of at least 4 carbon atoms which corresponds to monomer (b). Bartley teaches that the hydrocarbons may be used as a traction fluid either alone or in combination with other fluid components such as mineral oils or synthetic oils. Bartley also allows for the addition of additives such as disperants, detergents, viscosity modifiers, antiwear agents and antioxidants to the traction fluid. See column 5, line 56 to column 6, line 44. Thus the examiner is of the position that Bartley meets the limitations of the above rejected claims.

The rejections under 35 U.S.C. 103 made in the previous office action as obvious over Chen et al (4,922,047) in view of Johnson et al (6,346,585), and in some claims, in further view of Tipton (6,372,696), are withdrawn in view of applicants' arguments.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 26 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Method claims 22-25 are allowed over the prior art references of record.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicants' disclosure.
